7. Annual Report on the work of the Committee	Alec Coles (Chair) spoke briefly to the report as presented in the meeting papers.
	Items of notein a busy year:
	MGA conference 2018 This was yet again very successful with the Angelita Teo as the ICOM sponsored speaker and the sponsorship to Neil MacGregor's keynote at this year's conference provided an extremely stimulating address - thanks to Robin Hirst AO and Alex Marsden for their support facilitating the arrangements. The ICOM Awards were also a highlight, award winnersbeing Ted Gott (Individual) and Museum of Applied Arts and Science (institution) were worthy recipients.
	International profile Deb Tout- Smith ad Alec have attended meetings of the International Training Council (Deb Paris, Alec China) both keen to work with colleagues in the drive to move ICOM from its traditional approaches, Suay Aksoy ICOM President is a key player in this contemporary reformation agenda. Museum Definition Prospect and Potentials Committee is working to review and refine the ICOM definition of museums, Margaret Anderson sits on that group and ICOM Australia was involved in three specific initiatives; a round table discussion and proposals submission by the Executive Board, chair spoke at a joint meeting of ICOM and the Singapore Heritage Board in Singapore, and the Executive Board meeting in morning agreed a proposed form of words for submission in the latest round of consultation.
	Chair attended and represented Suay Aksoy as keynote speaker at the inaugural Global Summit of Research Museums. A strong relationship has developed over the year through shared views and aspirations. Membership Positive reached 600 members in 2018 and continues to grow. The Chair encouraged members to promote the valueof membership to friends and colleagues. Partnership Program

An important part of our work and final preparations are underway for the PNGworkshop program at the National Museum and Art Gallery Port Moresby in June.

ICOM Triennial

The Chair noted that the triennial meeting will be held in Kyoto this year and that three Bursaries had been Award to enable members to attend

Chair had recently written to government to lobby them to fully implement 2015 Simpson report recommendations.

Noted that May 18 was International Museum Day, the Essay Competition had not been as successful this year, but the working group is looking of reinvigorating it for 2020.

Also noted that following the question last year relating hosting a Triennial approaches had been received from Brisbane and Perth conference centres. It is a major undertaking for a voluntary organisation, however the Board will be establishing a feasibility working groupagreed at this morning's meeting, Alec has offerred his services to that group. The annual report was accepted by the meeting.

The Chair thanked all the board members for their hard work over the year Deb Tout-Smith Vice-Chair for her work on the Partnership program, Roger Garland as Public Officer and ICT lead, Nancy Ladas social media and BlueShield, Judith Coombes – Bursary, Cherie McNair -Awards and particular thanks to Scott Mitchell as Treasurer and Ian Thilthorpe – National Secretary who will be standing down this year.
